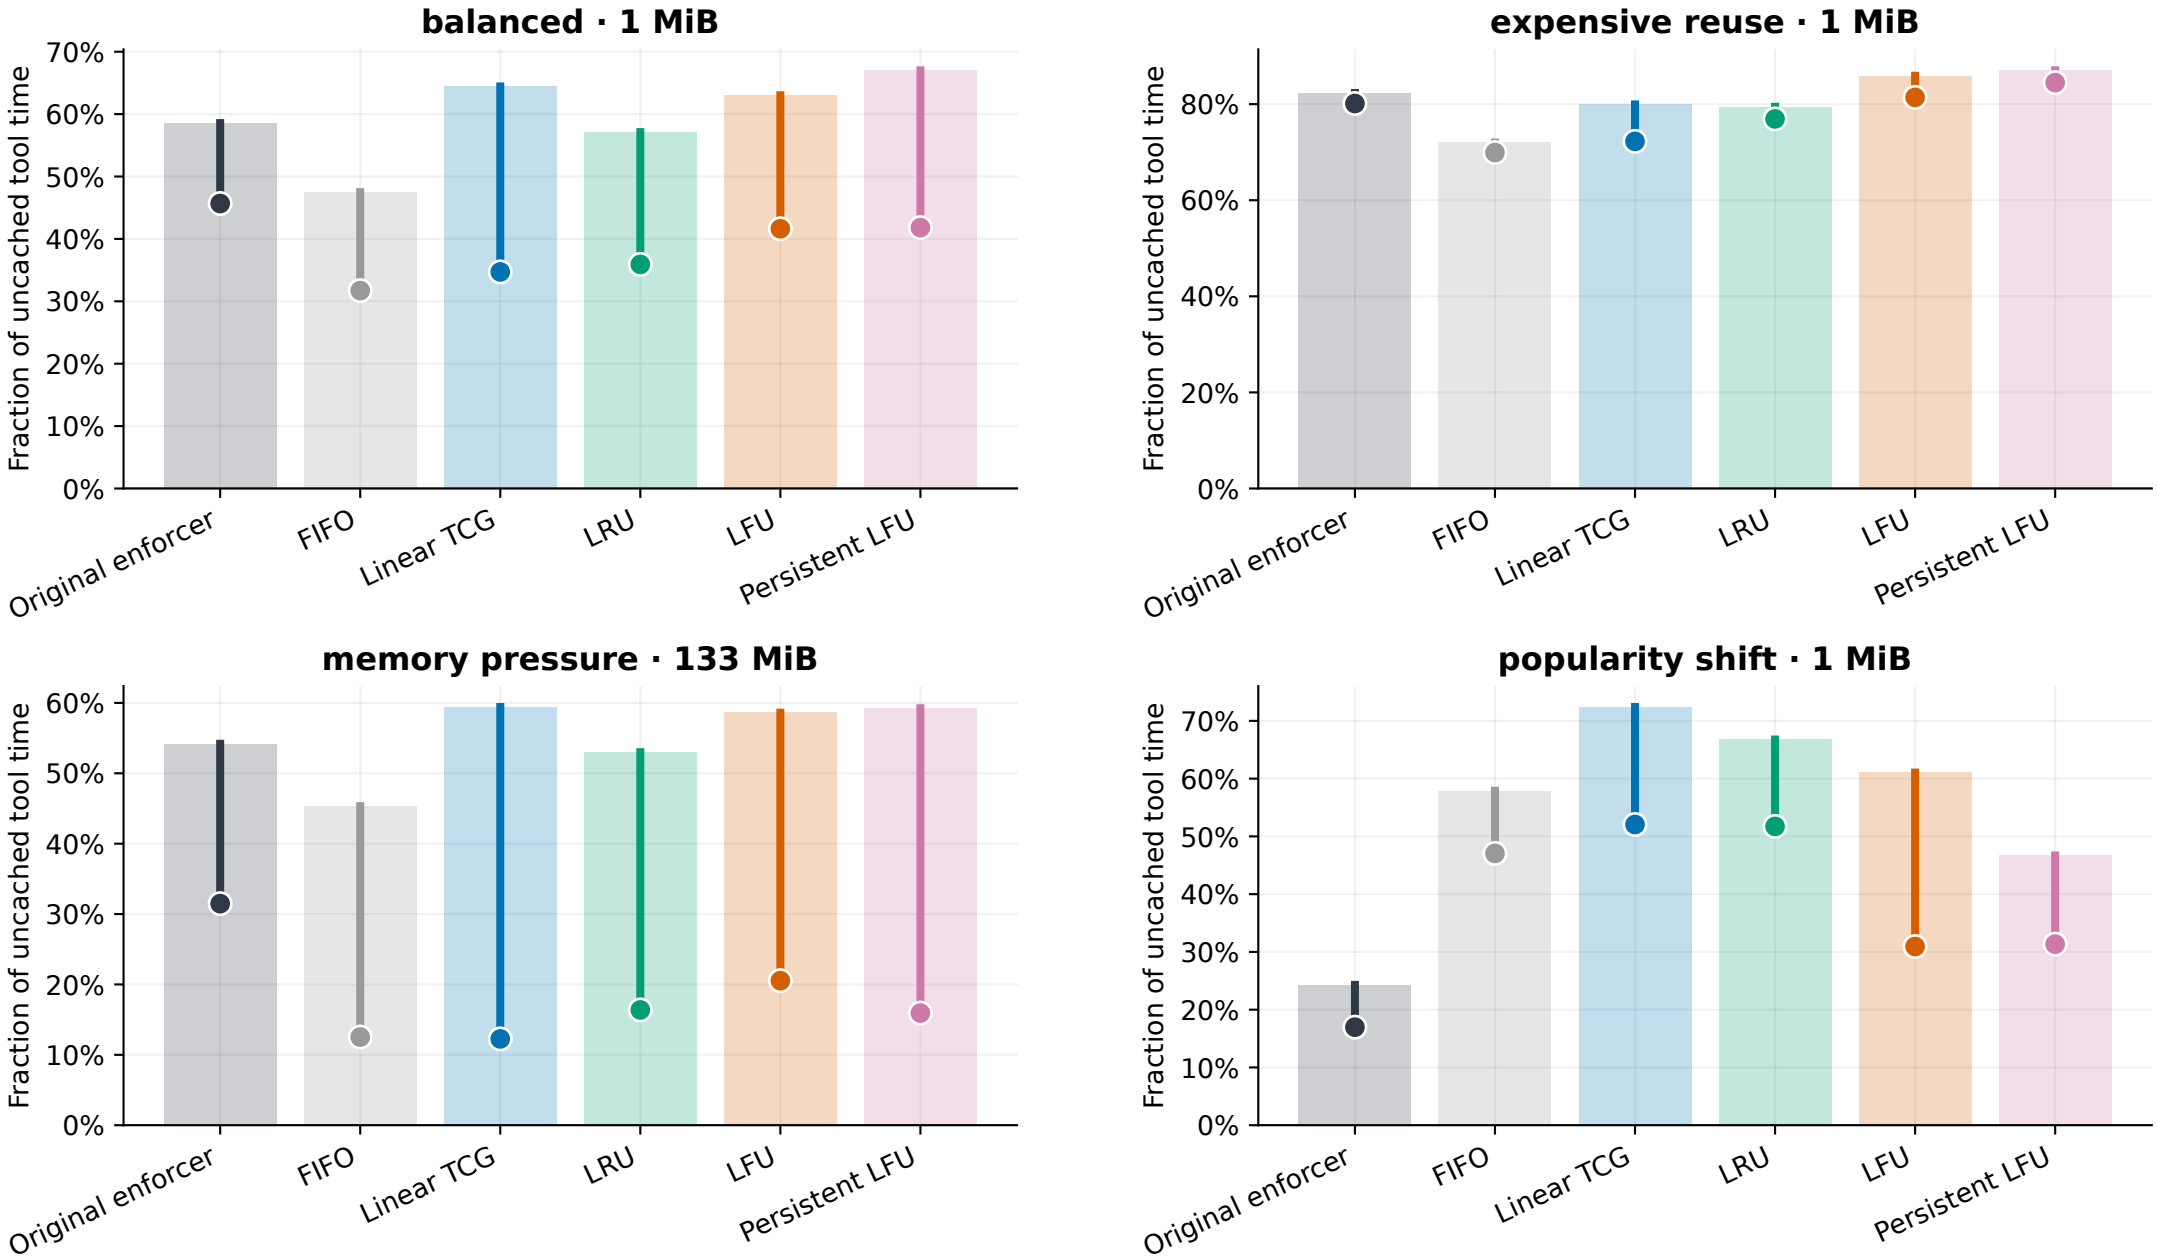
Where gross hit savings go



rust, snapshots off. Pale bar = gross hit savings; dot = net savings; connecting line = reconstruction + modeled overhead penalty.
Each workload uses its smallest nonzero tested capacity; synthetic costs, not training wall-clock savings.